See Decision In Mighty Battle In Short Time—U. S. Tanks Big Factor

By GEORGE LAIT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

BRITISH BATTLE HEADQUARTERS, In The Libyan Desert, June 1.—

Swift-striking British mechanized units and fast RAF planes apparently had turned the tide of the Libyan battle definitely in Britain's favor today as they unleashed new attacks against Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's panzer army.
Once-powerful units of Rommel's forces were reported trapped in the Acroma-el Adem-Khums bridge area of the Tobruk front, facing the withering fire of the British desert army.

In Blistering Heat
The battle, set in the blistering heat of the desert summer, was reported "a living hell" by the weary, grimy men who have transformed what the Axis believed would be an easy victory into a battle for the very existence of Rommel's highly-touted "Afrika Corps".

There were indications that this gigantic struggle which pitted the most powerful mechanical monsters of the Axis against mighty American-made tanks and planes would be decided in another few hours.
A communique describing the operations said:
"Since noon of May 30, the enemy has been trying to concentrate his main armored forces to the west and has been making use of two (Continued On Page Six)

Dr. R. M. Patterson, Central Presbyterian Pastor, Is Speaker

LEAVES CHALLENGE WITH GRADUATES

"Know thyself, control thyself and deny thyself."

To the 448 black-robed members of senior high schools June graduating class, largest in the history of the school, Dr. Robert Meade Patterson, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, left this brief challenge last night during impressive baccalaureate services in The Cathedral.
Commencement exercises for the large group will take place in The Cathedral Friday evening, June 5, with Dr. Weir C. Keller, president of Grove City College, as the speaker.

Sermon Fits Times

In a sermon keyed to the times, Dr. Patterson, in stirring words, directed the seniors to "take stock" of themselves and "to get mastery over yourself" by "surrendering to Him who is all-powerful."
The challenge Dr. Patterson brought was based upon Verse 24 of the 16th chapter of the Gospel of St. Matthew: "Then said Jesus unto His disciples, if any man come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me."

Dr. Ferguson Aids

Campaign Passes $20,000 Mark As Quota Is Near-; May Be Finished In Week

Roger W. Rowland, Lawrence county USO campaign chairman, announced today that late reports had sent the local USO fund well over the $20,000 figure. The way returns have been coming in indicates, according to Rowland, that the Lawrence fund will be over the top before the week is out.
Since Ellwood City's quota of $7,500 is to be collected in the fall, the rest of Lawrence only needs about $24,000.
The jump in the USO fund was due to an extremely generous Johnson Bronze contribution of $3,385, half of which was given by the employees and half by the company.

Heavy Fighting Is Reported On Kalinin Front

Moscow Reports German Drive For Rostov Has Been Checkmated

RELATIVE QUIET AROUND KHARKOV

Russians Claim Attack On Kharkov Triumph Of Soviet Generalship

By JAMES E. BROWN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, June 1.—

Heavy fighting was reported in progress today on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, while the attempted German thrust through Red lines to Rostov apparently had been checkmated by the Russian drive toward Kharkov.
"Nothing of importance" occurred on the ground fronts in Sunday's operations, the official Soviet communique declared last midnight.
This was taken to mean that relative quiet prevailed on southern fighting fronts, where German Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock's drive in the Izium-Barvenkov sector, menacing Rostov, was offset because Marshal Semyon Timoshenko, anticipating the Nazi plan, began delivering sledge-hammer blows in the Kharkov area.

Details Meagre

Few details were available in Moscow early today on reported large scale battling on the Kalinin front. Russian forces, however, according to the communique, were driving toward Rostov, was offset because Marshal Semyon Timoshenko, anticipating the Nazi plan, began delivering sledge-hammer blows in the Kharkov area.

CHUNGKING, June 1.—Stalwart defenders of Free China today fought off the Japanese invader on far-flung battlefields that ranged all the way from the my-occupied bases in Indo China to the Shantung-Hopeh border, far to the north.

Facing a foe with superior air equipment, more powerful arms and no apparent reluctance to use poison gas to obtain his ends, the Chinese nevertheless were able to make inroads on the enemy's expeditionary army in several sectors.
In Chekiang province, where the Japanese finally drove Chinese forces from strategic Kihwa; in Anhwei, Kwaangsi, Hopeh and Shantung—and probably in other provinces as well—forces of Kai-Shek and the hordes of Nippon came to grips.

Huge Wave Hits Lake Shore; Seven Persons Drowned

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, June 1.—A huge wave which smashed against a 7-mile stretch of the Lake Erie shore east and west of Cleveland, drowning seven persons, injuring at least seven others and catapulting dozens of small boats on the beaches, was blamed today on a sudden freak shift of the wind.
The wave struck from Bay Village, west of Cleveland, to Geneva, on the east. It was described as being from four to 10 feet high, followed by a second but somewhat smaller swell. Authorities said no earth disorders were registered on the seismograph at John Carroll university.
The dead, including two women and a boy, were fishing from a pier and in small boats when the wave came in.

Dying Fireman Saves His Train Crew

Heroism Shown In Train Wreck

Fatally Injured Fireman
Prevents Crew From Being Scalded

WRECK OCCURS NEAR
WASHINGTON, PA.

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 1.—The heroic efforts of a dying fireman, buried in dirt up to his armpits in an overturned, steam-filled cab of a locomotive, today was credited with saving the lives of the engineer and brakeman of a Baltimore & Ohio railroad freight train.

The dead man was Fireman Chester H. Frazier, of Pittsburgh, making his initial run on that line of the B. & O. He succumbed shortly before rescuers attempted to extricate his crushed and steam-seared body from the wreckage.

The other men, G. H. Van Buren, engineer, of Pittsburgh, and George W. Walden, brakeman, of Alabama City, Ala., also buried in dirt when the engine plunged over a 15-foot embankment near Taylorstown, five miles west of Washington, were brought to Washington hospital. Attaches said they would recover.

According to officials in Pittsburgh, the engine and 16 cars of a 66-car freight train were derailed. The locomotive plunged over the embankment and landed upside down in a nearby cornfield, trapping the crew inside. Escaping steam filled the cab, but Frazier, in an heroic last moment, turned off the valves.

G. H. Van Buren, 30-year-old engineer of the locomotive, of Pittsburgh, died later of severe burns.

a single day, while three enemy vessels, including an 8,000-ton transport, were sunk. The transport was said to have gone down in the Black Sea, while another transport and tanker were reported sunk in the Gulf of Finland.

"Soviet Triumph"
In Moscow, Timoshenko's Kharkov attack was called a "triumph of superior Soviet generalship."

The Russians did not claim a victory beyond achieving the objective of upsetting the spring drive of Von Bock toward Rostov, the current deadlock in the Izyum-Barvenkovo sector was believed to forestall for the present at least a German drive toward the oil area.

Fighting on Kharkov's approaches, it was said in Moscow, now includes only sporadic clashes.

Therefore, we have tried to be prepared for this emergency and are glad to say that we have one of the largest stocks of caskets, vaults and funeral supplies in our history, and the only reason we have this is because we have tried to be prepared.

Don't let anyone tell you that you cannot get a metal vault any more, as we have them. And, the same holds good in metal caskets, even though we are advising the public that they should purchase wood casket, as there is no question but that is what we will eventually be compelled to sell to the public.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FREQUENTLY I am asked about left-handedness in children. Most of the questions naturally concern those of early age. Here is a typical inquiry.

"Shall I make my child use his right hand if he persists in employing his left?" I always answer "NO."

Back comes the statement that the left-handed person looks so awkward. He meets constantly with inconveniences, since all furniture is made for right-handed persons. True; but such apparent awkwardness and inconvenience are not at all comparable to the damage from emotional disturbance incident to making most children born to be left-handed change to be right-handed.

I know of many tragedies growing out of such interference with the child's native bent. Study a hundred stutterers and stammerers and you will find many among them whose handedness had been interfered with. This is an established fact.

Psychologists are pretty much in accord in the grounds against interfering on the basis that interference causes emotional conflicts.

Some maintain that the speech center of the brain develops in close connection with the hand motor centers, although this relationship has not been convincingly established.

While I was in teacher-training work I usually gave my students as a demonstration the task of writing with the left hand continuously for fifteen minutes. All the right-handed students reported intense physical disturbances, cramping of the arm and fingers, headache, and pain in the neck. They also gave vivid evidence of annoyance, some becoming extremely irritable. If you don't believe this try it on yourself.

Common sense leads us to see that the child who constantly wants to use his left hand, but who eternally is forbidden to do so, is tremendously disturbed. Teachers of the best school systems now are instructed by the superintendent not to force left-handed children to write with the other hand.

Let me conclude that in no instance should handedness be changed if its shift means any apparent emotional disturbance; that so far as I can discern there are few changes without such disturbance, and that I believe the parents and teachers would mind their own business so far as the child's handedness is concerned.

Solving Parent Problems.
Q. Are there good books about going to college, who should go to college, how to choose a college, life at college, and how to succeed at college?
A. Yes, there are a number of good books on such subjects. Write me in care of this paper and let me send you a list of these books. Please enclose a self-addressed envelope, and don't forget the three-cent stamp.

One Man's Opinion

We hope all our little friends saw that piece in the papers about British and American commands plaintively begging for a peek at the Russian front.

Our military commands know what is going on in Russia only by ear.

"They have not been permitted a look-see."

We are extending aid in a dark alley.

If that is the way to "win friends and influence people" Dale Carnegie can write another chapter to his book and title it "How To Make A Chum in a Blackout."

Our alliance with Russia is a defensive alliance. She knows it. Why don't we know it?

We are leaning on Russia to stop Hitler and Russia has been doing it and doing it well.

You can stop there.

Though for the day: Hold that chorus of "Let's Be Buddies." It isn't so.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON — Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war believes Japan will attempt retaliation bombings: "The United States government, through General Doolittle, administered a stinging, humiliating surprise blow when it bombed Tokyo. Anyone who knows Oriental psychology... knows that this raid means a most serious loss of face which can be wiped out only by a return blow, which, if possible will be bigger than that which they suffered."

WASHINGTON — Senator Tom Connally of Texas scoffs at nationwide gasoline rationing: "To ration gasoline in states like Texas that produce oil in great quantities, does not make sense."

LONDON — Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the U. S. service of supply promises a steady stream of war materials: "We intend to supply Britain and we can do it without any prejudice to our commitments to Australia or other fronts."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:22. Sun rises tomorrow 5:33.

Flat feet are not noticed as easily as flat heads.

An Irishman was talking with an American who had toured the Emerald Isle.

"I had unpleasant weather most of the time there," said the American. And I certainly didn't think Ireland was any Garden of Eden.

"How could it be—without any snakes there," asked the Irishman.

Fewer automobiles will mean fewer people getting killed.

BE POLITE WHEN YOU DO SAY IT.

"Go ask father," the maiden said. And she knew that I knew That her father was dead. And she knew that I knew What a life he had led. And she knew that I knew What she meant when she said "Go ask father."

NO INFO FOR THE ENEMY

A group of workmen were excavating on a government project on the outskirts of a large city. A passing motorist stopped his car, asked some information about his route and then inquired: "What are you digging for?"

The workman looked up, and brusquely replied: "Money."

"Money!" exclaimed the amazed motorist. "And when do you expect to strike it?"

"Saturday!" replied the workman as he continued digging.

Quite a few young people think about at least one important thing they will do after graduating—get married. Want more education.

Who says they'll ration gasoline And if so—who will fuss? What's good enough for Britain Is good enough for us. No more Sunday callers—To interrupt our rest. And that's the part that most of us Are going to like the best. We'll catch up on a lot of things That we have left undone. And find it's a lot of fun. We'll plant a Victory Garden, Avoid a traffic jam, And save the gasoline To help our good old Uncle Sam!

Question: Is it proper for a widow to wear her wedding ring when her husband has been dead for five or six years. If so, should she wear the engagement ring that her husband gave her on his left or right hand?—Eliza.

Answer: A widow may wear her wedding ring for the remainder of her life, or until she accepts from another man an engagement or wedding ring. On the contrary, she is privileged to remove her wedding ring after her husband's death, if she wishes. She may wear her engagement ring on either hand.

Axis Countries Are Putting On Pressure

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Spain's frame of mind is of importance to all Axis and anti-Axis countries. It's of particular importance to the United States because of the influence it's likely to have upon sentiment in the Spanish-speaking republics in its own hemisphere. Brazil's Portuguese, rather than Spanish, descent, but Portugal's anti-Axis anyway, and Brazil, reflecting its parent land's old world prejudices, traditionally is strongly pro-Yankee.

Everything else south of the Rio Grande is of Spanish ancestry, and some of it, until quite lately, hasn't been overly friendly to Uncle Sam. Consequently a Spanish anti-Axis trend not only is favorable to the United Nations generally, it's especially so to us. And that's the direction it seems to be taking.

Spain, as I guess everybody knows, is predominantly Catholic. Nevertheless, it's long had a pretty strong anarchistic element, which has been exactly anti-Catholic, but has been anti-clerical in principle.

Now, anarchists have been advertised as bomb-chuckers, and that's what some of 'em actually have been. A lot of them, though, calling themselves merely "philosophical anarchists," have deprecated violence, confining themselves to nothing but a theoretical disbelieve in government by decree—very mild, gentle folk.

Spain Cheered Russia

Czarist Russia had a big anarchist organization, too. Finally it raged up and overthrew the czar. The Spanish anarchists were tickled pink. There are various activities, though, that have to be handled on a large scale. The Spanish bunch, recognizing it, favored having.

JUST ONE IDEA

Every thinking American has an idea which he believes is calculated to help win the war and he does not hesitate to make just as public an outcry as he possibly can concerning his idea. Consequently, the newspapers every day contain good, bad and indifferent ideas and these ideas do not include the schemes which various representatives in congress try to enact into laws.

Mr. J. Louis Reynolds, president of the American Flag society, has his idea. He believes that every ought knuckled American now working in vital war plants is a soldier in the productive army of America and deserves the recognition of a soldier. He goes on to say:

"When he walks on the streets of his home town, when he attends a movie, when he goes home to his family, he should be wearing a soldier's uniform. According to his job he should be given the rank of military service."

Loyal workers in the battle plants of this country hold in their hands the fate of many nations, but their identity as fighters, for liberty, is lost when the whistle blows and their overalls are laid aside until tomorrow. Because of this stigma of slackers often settles unfairly in their shoulders.

"This innocent slur on their patriotism has caused many unnecessarily to leave production lines for the fighting lines overseas. For every man who files a plane or mends a ship or fires a gun, eight or more men must be kept on lathe or drill or on assembly lines. Any number less than this means an unfinished bomber, an unfired gun, delayed victory."

Bataan fell not for lack of heroic men, but for lack of equipment and supplies. Corregidor held only as long as supplies and equipment lasted. MacArthur begs not for men, but planes, tanks, guns and ammunition with which to fire them. And very wisely called by his government, satisfactorily replaced should be encouraged to remain in the production service to make sure America doesn't let MacArthur down.

"Those men of vision who see beyond the peril of the moment understand the vast importance of the now undertaken by Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt in the mobilization of America's labor. A mobilized army should be a uniformed army. Let's have it. Private Jones, P. A. Lieutenant Smith, P. A. Major Brown, P. A. Let's decorate them for outstanding performances. The boys overseas will be thankful that the country they are fighting for has at last appreciated the vital importance of the army back home, and American children will be proud to see tangible evidence that their daddies are taking hand in victory."

"A salute to Private Jones, Production Army, U. S. A."

I saw three mothers standing by. Each one had sent a boy to sea in freedom's holy cause to die. And proud they seemed to be.

Upon their cheeks still ran the tears And in their eyes was something sad. But still for all the future years One precious memory they had.

When all the sacrifice is sold, And freedom's bitterest war is won Against the trifling gifts of gold, They will declare: "I gave a son!"

A California judge declared that women resent taking orders. He must be married.

China has been in war five years and still going strong and not asking for help.

In the good old days no man thought of divorce. Each man believed in working on a woman to death before getting another.

Why not deny sugar only to those who are far from refineries?

Upon their cheeks still ran the tears And in their eyes was something sad. But still for all the future years One precious memory they had.

The Great Game Of Politics

Solvency Is Essential

WASHINGTON, June 1. THERE ARE a number of governmental agencies and individuals engaged in what they call post-war planning, and the thesis that "winning the peace" is secondary only to winning the war is earnestly upheld. Undoubtedly, this is a sound intention, and post-war planning is not premature. To give no thought to the problems of peace until after the war ends would be an invitation to a chaos almost as bad as defeat itself.

THEREFORE, NO ONE wants to discourage those now concentrating upon these plans, which cover nearly every conceivable phase of international relations. What one could wish, however, is that they were somewhat more realistic about the future.

For example, every plan so far suggested is based upon the assumption that the United States will emerge from the war a genuinely solvent nation. Certainly no proposals even faintly resembling those now being formulated could hope for success unless supported by a nation of unquestioned financial solidity. Thus, it would be logical that these would reformers should be deeply concerned in the preservation of national solvency. Obviously, not to base their plans upon such preservation is grotesque. Nevertheless, not one among them gives any indication of concern about this fundamental.

On the contrary, they mostly ignore the proposals to reduce non-war governmental expenditures; which just does not make sense.

ABOUT ALL OTHERS, these men ought to be concerned with the national solvency. They should be the first to point out that the President's recent gesture of cutting the WPA appropriation by $185,000,000 is inadequate and that with employment at an all-time peak and going higher, this depression-born agency, with its big overhead administrative payroll, should be abolished. But is there a word from them along that line? Not at all.

Most of them treat national solvency as an unimportant and irrelevant fact. Most of them believe as though insolvency could never overtake this country, or, if it did, it would make no difference. The stupendous debt with which we will emerge from the war and the unrelenting tax burdens which the people then will be bearing do not prevent the peace planners from formulating elaborate post-war ideas which would require tremendous additional Government outlays and subsidies.

THEY DO NOT stop to consider where the new billions are coming from after the war ends. They do not stop to consider that when the need for vast new appropriations arises to take care of the unemployed, the banks and the market as well as individuals will all be glutted with Government obligations.

HAPPYGRAMS

By ERICH BRANDIS

Ever since President Roosevelt told newspapermen that General Doolittle took off for his daring air raid over Tokyo from the Shanghai-La air base, German military authorities have been trying to find that base.

They have searched every map they could find and have now come to the conclusion that it is one of the many hundred unnamed Pacific islands. As far as the Germans are concerned, the Shanghai-La of Hilton's "Lost Horizon" might just as well be in "Alice in Wonderland." Don't they remember how Alice fell and fell until she thought that she was getting to the center of the earth?

I wonder if I shall fall right through the earth? she said to herself. "How funny it'll seem to come out among the people with their heads downwards! The Antipathies, I think."

And don't they remember that verse?

"How cheerfully it seems to grin, How neatly spreads its claws, And welcomes little fishes in, With gently smiling jaws!"

Anyone can see that Shanghai-La is in Wonderland. Anyone knows that the fellow about whom the verse was written is Mr. Hitler.

And anyone knows that our bombs will fall and fall right through the earth until they have destroyed all those foolish people in the "Antipathies" and wherever else Fuchers and Emperors and Durers are so ignorant that they don't even know that Shanghai-La is Victory!

You may confirm yourself in a great relationship. Make your heavenly father proud of you by your obedience. For as many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God—Romans 8:14

Bring 908 Back From Overseas

Diplomats, Correspondents,

After Long Intern-

(International News Service)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 1.—The Swedish-American liner Drottningholm, her decks lined with American diplomatic officials, newspapermen and refugees from Axis nations, docked at Jersey City today and down her gangplank raced 908 persons to whom American soil had become a misty memory.

Painted white, streaked with the Swedish colors and plainly labeled as a "diplomatic" ship, the Drottningholm had a rough crossing but aside from once sighting a periscope, there was no excitement in the voyage.

Back from Berlin where he was interned for five months, Hugo Speck International News Service foreign correspondent, reported that the German war cry has changed from "victory is ours" to "victory cost what it may", since the United States entered the war. "There are many signs evident that Germany is approaching—not nearing—but approaching a crack-up," Speck reported.

Saddest of the arriving passengers was Admiral William D. Leahy, American ambassador to Vichy, who returned with the body of his wife.

Lincoln's Gettysburg address was given by Robert Calvin, and Mrs. Evelyn Woods of the V. P. W. Auxiliary recited "In Flander's Fields." Commander Stoner read General Logan's General Order establishing the custom of Memorial Day, and Earl Hammond sang, "Sleep, Soldier Boy, Sleep."

The program was concluded with the benediction, taps and volleys fired by a detachment of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps.

CANTERBURY IS UNDER ATTACK BY NAZI PLANES

launched a new offensive against northern France. Large formations of bombers roared out across the sunlit Straits of Dover, heading for Calais.

News that England's famous old Cathedral City, seat of the Primate of the Church of England, had been singled out by the Luftwaffe failed to dim the jubilation felt over the record-breaking 1,250-plane attack against Cologne. Offensive plans for the future were highlighted by Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the United States Army Air Force, who made clear that American bombing squadrons would soon be in action along with the Royal Air Force.

Three waves of German bombers took part in the attack on Canterbury. High explosive bombs and incendiaries were dropped, causing considerable damage and casualties. But there apparently was no comparison between this attack and the devastating raid on Cologne.

Only 25 Nazi bombers

A total of only 25 Nazi bombers came over, in contrast to the hundreds and hundreds which raided Cologne, streaking in over the city at six second intervals to drop explosives of every calibre, up to and including giant death-dealers weighing 4,000 pounds.

The shopping and residential districts of Canterbury were damaged, but there was no immediate report to the effect that the Cathedral itself had been hit.

Authoritative sources announced that three-fourths of the large German industrial city of Cologne was left in flames by the Saturday night bombing by heavy bombers. An estimated 3,000 tons, or 6,000,000 pounds of bombs were dropped by the "considerably more" than 1,000 planes which carried out the greatest aerial bombardment in history to leave flames shooting more than 15,000 feet into the air that were visible for 115 miles.

Only a quirk in the weather, it appeared, saved Nazi Germany from suffering another gigantic attack last night. It was learned that a large force of British bombers were ready to take off from English airbases again Sunday night but unfavorable weather forced the air commanders to call off the projected raid.

German Jitters

Proof of the jitters suffered by the Germans was given when the Berlin radio went off the air suddenly shortly after midnight. The German news agency DNB reported later that single British craft carried out nuisance flights over Reich territory.

British officials announced, however, that no attack planes went over Germany during the night. It was believed likely though that British reconnaissance craft winged their way over Cologne and the Ruhr areas in an effort to determine extent of the damage to Reich industrial plants.

Over 1250 Planes

Smoke from the huge fires started in the raid by the British planes, estimated to total between 1,250 and 1,700, prevented successful photographing of the results immediately after the attack.

All indications are that the damage was terrific. Britons who were thrown into a frenzy of excitement on hearing news of the mammoth raid said discussed the event excitedly today and waited anxiously for the time when photographs would be published showing the damage done.

A total of 6,000 men, including American members of both the R. A. F. and Canadian Air Force, were believed to have made up the crews of the British bombers which took off from more than 60 airfields in England. A ground force of some 100,000 was needed to launch the planes. Thirteen types of aircraft, most of them bombers, took part. Many were capable of carrying up to eight tons of bombs and some were equipped with 4,000 pound missiles.

men were called to the home of K. L. Kramer of 210 North Ray street, where a bolt struck the top of the house, knocking out a window, and following a beam across to the other side, knocking off considerable plaster. Damage of around $500 was done.

Union Township Blaze

At 7:15 p. m., firemen were called to the home of W. A. Ferguson of Meegan avenue, Union township, when neighbors found the house ablaze. Lightning had followed the electric wiring into the house and caused a short circuit, which smoldered for some time and finally burst into flame. Neighbors saw the smoke around 6 o'clock, but didn't pay particular attention at that time, and when firemen were summoned at 7:15 o'clock, a good fire was in the making, which they extinguished with a minimum of loss. Damage amounted to around $700, firemen reported.

In the meantime a bolt of lightning struck at the United Engineering company site in George street, hurling two workmen to the ground, and severely shocking them. They were taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where they were treated, and have now recovered.

Two Injured By Lightning

Tony Lucas, aged 28 years, of 1410 Croton avenue, was leaning against a crane on which he was employed as a crane-man's helper, when the bolt struck the crane, and hurled him to the ground. He suffered injuries of both legs, and for a time it was feared partial paralysis might result. He was able to go to his home on Sunday, however.

Paul Mackey, aged 46 years, of 219 Cottage street, also employed at the United Engineering company site, suffered slight shock of the right arm, when the machine on which he was working was struck.

It was also reported that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mann of 329 Park avenue, was struck during the afternoon, the bolt knocking a hole in the roof and causing slight damage. A tree was also reported struck on Highland avenue about noon, when a storm swept just north of the city, and startled residents with a terrific flash and clap when a bolt struck almost from a clear sky.

The storm was ushered in with a terrific blast of wind, and many limbs were blown from trees, and loose objects hurled about. No serious damage was reported from the wind, however.

Police Radio Hit

Police department radio station WPGT struck by lightning Saturday night, and out of commission for 90 minutes. It was repaired by Police Radio Technician Wayne Sines.

East Washington street traffic signal circuit struck by lightning Saturday night and put out of commission. It also short circuited the fire alarm system. All lights repaired by City Electrician Rex Hughes, except at Mill and Washington streets, which was still out of commission this morning.

A tree was felled Saturday afternoon at Highland and Leasure avenues and removed by employees of Carmi Glover, street commissioner. Small sections of east cartway above Stewart place in Highland avenue, washed out by deluge of water.

Pennsylvania Power company reported 1,000 feet of high tension wire ruined when 66,000 volt line was struck by lightning Saturday afternoon, beyond the West Washington street stone quarry.

The company also reported the Pulaski sub-station Saturday afternoon was affected and there was an interruption of electric current to the North Hill and immediate rural points north of the city.

More than 110 transformer fuses were replaced during Saturday and Sunday. It was added, Sunday's interruptions were mostly individual cases.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Oliver H. Brandon of Wampum, a carpenter, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock for an infection of the hand, resulting when the hand was bumped while at work several days ago.

considerable traffic, but it was away under the congestion of normal years. Gas and tire rationing is cutting down auto travel.

Wheat fields along the highways seem to be starting to ripen. This is an unusual situation, being very early for wheat of be so far developed. Harvest of wheat ordinarily begins about the start of July.

Downtown traffic signals took a holiday during the holiday period over the week-end. Apparently as a result of the terrific lightning storms, lights at Mill and Washington streets and on the public square, among others, were affected. Police officers aided in moving traffic part of the time.

No record was broken at the Jameson Memorial hospital for the number of births in a month at that institution, May's number of 80 falling six short of the record set in April. Three sets of twins were born during the month, however.

According to employees of the City of New Castle Water company the river stage showed the quickest drop from Friday night to Saturday morning that has ever been noticed, falling from a stage of 7.6 feet Friday evening to 4.8 feet Saturday morning.

Precipitation during the month of May was almost double the normal amount for the month, the records of U. S. Weather Observer B. F. Johnson reveal. The normal rainfall for May is 3.57 inches, while 6.93 was noted during the past month.

LIBYAN BATTLE TIDE TURNS IN BRITAIN'S FAVOR

Says he made in our mine-fields, roughly on the alignment Trigh-Capuzzo.

"Although attacked continuously by our armored forces and the Royal Air Force, he partially succeeded in his purpose and established a considerable force of anti-tank artillery covering the gap with the object of preventing their closure by our armored forces."

"A large proportion of remaining enemy tanks and transport are still east of the mine-fields and are being attacked by our troops and air forces."

Under Heavy Artillery Fire

"The gaps are under continuous artillery fire and R. A. F. attack."

"General Ludwig Cruesell, commander of the German Afrika Corps, is a prisoner after his reconnaissance plane was shot down in our lines."

German engineers had successfully torn two gaps in a British mine-field stretching from Bir Hacheim 60 miles up the coast to Neart El Gazala. In those two gaps Rommel's panzer units were fighting what was reported to be a "last ditch stand."

"Thus, south, southwest and west of Tobruk the Axis forces were in dire peril as their offensive which began last week so thunderously showed signs of boomeranging into disaster."

"It can't go on much longer," a battle-stained British soldier said on a brief return from the battle zone. "There's hell let loose out there."

Wherever the Axis mechanized forces turned, advances received at this desert battle headquarters indicated, there was trouble in store from the British fighters.

If we could afford it, what a pleasure it would be to sit back and watch India take what "non-cooperation" asks for.

WAMPUM THEATRE

NOTICE

Yes it is true the WAMPUM THEATRE was fined $50.00 for running a motion picture on Sunday, May 17th. This was a benefit show for the Wampum Boys in the service. This can be verified by ad. in this paper of Friday, May 15th. There have been other Sunday Motion Pictures held in this theatre. Namely one for the Greek War Relief Fund, of this there was no arrest made. Therefore, if it was good enough for the Greeks, it should have been good enough for our boys in service. But, alas, TWO persons whose names I do not wish to appear on this Ad. have made this practically impossible in the future.

The giant four-motored Navy Patrol Bombers are the world's most powerful planes. They cost approximately $700,000 each. The Navy also has a lighter Bomber called the Scout Bomber which costs about $143,000 apiece.

The battle for Britain was almost lost because England had none of these giant four-motored planes with which to fight back. We need thousands of them and they are coming off the assembly lines in our production plants at a high rate of speed today. St. Vitus May Crowning Held

Impressive Services Conducted At Church Of Our Lady's Sodality

A living rosary was formed by the Our Lady's Sodality of St. Vitus church Sunday afternoon at the May crowning services held in the church at 3 o'clock.

Mary Chill was the May queen and her attendants were: Lucy DiCarlo, Rose Chill, Mary Natalie and Margaret Naples. Sandra Chill was the crown bearer and train bearer were Virginia DeMatteo and Angelina Esposito. Frances Corio was the Apostle's Creed and Our Fathers were: Catherine Mazno, Louise DePolis, Lena Mastrangelo, Yolanda Carney, Clara Lamorella and Louise Isabella. Other Sodalityists also took part.

During the impressive services before a beautifully arranged altar, the Blessed Virgin Mary statue was crowned by the May queen, and Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor of the church, assisted at the ceremonies. New members were welcomed into the Sodality and were given medals.

Father DeMita addressed the group, choosing the Blessed Virgin Mary as his sermon's topic. He also spoke a few words commending the Sodality's May queen—Mary Chill. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and the song, "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," brought services to a close. Initiation of new members took place, and later dainty refreshments were served by Frances Corio and her social committee in the basement of the church. June 12 is the date for the next meeting.

ing 'em managed by voluntary, un-governmentalized groups. Maybe that was what the early Russian anarchists planned, but as soon as the "communes" were organized, a few individuals began grabbing control of them.

It wasn't the Spanish anarchist complex—twas the opposite of it, in fact.

Things developed into a state of flux.

Benito Mussolini became Italy's "duce," initially well meant, perhaps. He honestly did some effective reorganizing for awhile.

Then Adolf Hitler butted in as "fuhrer."

Generalissimo Francisco Franco blossomed out as Spain's "caudillo."

Adolf seems to have made his role GOOD—until the democracies licked him. Benito might still be all right, if Adolf hadn't deflated him. Joe Stalin's still in the fight.

Caudillo Franco had to put up a civil scrap.

He's a Falangist caudillo, just as Adolf's a German fuhrer and Benito's an Italian duce and as Joe Stalin might be a Russian something-or-other, if the Axis hadn't hopped on him. He is yet, for that matter, but he isn't as clean-cut as Adolf and Benito—or as Generalissimo Franco's as a caudillo, if he can make it stick.

Francisco's caudillo temporarily. He had a stiff muss getting in. It wasn't a matter of simple gravitation, as in Comrade Stalin's, Duce Mussolini's or Fuhrer Hitler's cases. And now he has increasing difficulty to buck.

Church a Factor

The church is turning against Herr Hitler. It isn't consolidated, though. Benito has been careful not to antagonize clerics. Comrade Stalin hasn't got much of it on his hands.

But it's anti-Franco. It's anti-anarchist also.

They don't agree on anything except anti-Franco-ism. Yet they do agree on that.

Well, as a main proposition, the Axis wants to break into northwestern Africa by way of Spain. It won't be able to do it conveniently if pro-Axis Caudillo Franco hangs on.

It appears that he's out on a limb.

One of his schemes has been to assimilate pewee but independent Portugal put independent Portugal into Spain.

Disregarding Portugal, how about Brazil?

The whole thing is so confounded international!

The Great Game Of Politics

tions, and that millions of men and women will want cash for their war bonds and stamps. Apparently, these planners, who ignore the need for reform that the Treasury sales tax believe that the Treasury in some mysterious way has an inexhaustible supply of money; that debts are not debts, but assets, and that there is no such thing as a day of reckoning. Some weeks ago Vice-President Wallace made a speech drawing a picture of the post-war era in which the "common people" in all the nations would come into their own and a wonderful new world be created. The left-wing press went into raptures over the oration, omitting, however, to note that it contained not a single concrete, practical proposal, and not so much as a suggestion that realization of these Vice-Presidential dreams might be interfered with by a bankrupt Treasury.

THERE IS NOW on foot a movement to send a group of ten members of Congress to England to discuss "peace aims." It is no one suggests that a decent peace must rest upon the solvency of the victorious nations. Not even Mr. A. A. Berle Jr., earliest of the post-war thinkers, appears to consider this except incidentally. Mr. Berle recently urged that with victory the United States must institute systems of relief for the starving peoples of Europe. "This," he wrote, "means arranging to finance this task all the way from the farm to the consumer of relief. It means working out methods by which the populations which will need relief shall not be mere acceptors of charity, but will re-enter cooperative economic life." These are indeed stimulating words, but like Mr. Wallace, Mr. Berle neglects to say what we are going to use for money.

FOR THE NOBLE aspirations of those planners there is of course, respect, and the steps they propose probably should be taken. But the point is that we will be in no position to take such steps if, when the war ends, our finances are out of control and the Treasury unable to borrow any longer or to tax any higher, is forced to desperate expedients to keep our oversized Government afloat. That such a condition is at least possible is too clear to be denied. Hence it would seem that those who see the necessity for us to assume international leadership and responsibilities would primarily be concerned with the elimination of all governmental waste and the strengthening in every possible way of the Federal financial fabric so that it will be able to stand the terrific additional strain to be imposed when peace comes.

IT WOULD HELP mightily if they could be got now to give this some attention. It would help, too, if the President would sometime, somewhere, find occasion to express his belief in continuance of the American system of capitalism and free enterprise and his disapproval of those who yearn to substitute something else for it. For nine years he has been encouraging labor and the farmers and the unemployed, but few will contend that he has done or said anything to encourage business, big or little. If now he could give public assurance that he is totally opposed to those who seek the extinction of business freedom and independence, it would be a far greater contribution to national unity than was the release of Browder.

CORRECTION

A STATEMENT in a recent column was construed by Secretary Morgenthau's friends as lining him up with those who favored abolition of the Farm Security Administration. The record shows that Mr. Morgenthau was not in favor of reducing the FSA funds without a more thorough investigation. F. R. K.

MOOSE ORDER STAGING UNIQUE COMMENCEMENT AND HUGE ENROLLMENTS

The 1942 Graduation Class of the Moose Child City of Mooseheart.

The nationally known academic and trade school, Mooseheart, in Illinois near Chicago, administered by the Loyal Order of Moose, will hold its annual commencement June 6. On the day following, hundreds of Moose lodges in states bordering upon Illinois will celebrate the event with a class initiation in honor of the 1942 graduates and former years' graduates and students of which there are now in the armed service more than 200.

"While our lodge, because of the distance from Mooseheart, and the present restrictions on travel, will not directly participate in the class initiation," said Secretary P. E. McFarland of the local Moose lodge, No. 51, "nevertheless, it is now engaged in building a class in honor of our graduates of Mooseheart and those former graduates now in the armed service. For," explained the secretary, "Mooseheart is an educational and philanthropic enterprise supported by the 1,500 and more lodges of the Moose fraternity. All Mooseheart graduates belong to our lodge as much as to any other."

"This class will exceed 1,500 candidates from the participating lodges alone. Including the number of candidates in this honor class from all the lodges, this number may reach 25,000."

The program on Saturday, June 6, will be devoted to the commencement exercises and related features. Drama, color, and dignity, as initiation, will characterize the occasion. Because of the times, a clearer, higher note of service to country will be sounded. On Sunday, the 7th, the program will have as its outstanding feature the class initiation. Germans In Holland Seek Additional Jail Quarters For Anti-Nazi Dutchmen

LONDON—Nazi occupation forces in Holland are today faced with a new problem—where to house anti-collaborationist Dutchmen. Owing to greatly overcrowded conditions in prisons throughout Holland, occupation authorities are forced to resort to placing civilians who disobey their laws under "house confinement" according to information reaching Free Dutch circles in London.

Under this system, people who evade food and clothing rations or who neglect the required courtesy towards the conquerors are ordered to stay in their homes for periods ranging from a week to several months.

To date, it is revealed, more than 4,000 Dutch "intellectuals" have been imprisoned and hundreds more are still walking the streets awaiting the construction of new prisons and detention camps where they can be placed.

Ancient Prison Repaired
In their search for more jail accommodations, the Nazis have been forced to repair an ancient prison in Gravenstein near Leyden which has been standing derelict for more than twenty years.

Indications that the Nazis are considering the construction of several new concentration camps in northeastern Holland have also reached London.

Numbering, it is believed, seven concentration detention establishments throughout Holland, jail facilities are much to overcrowded to receive any more inmates. Coupled with a rising resistance throughout the country—attributed in part to news of the heroic stand made by the Dutch at Java and other East Indies possessions—this is said to be presenting the Nazis with an increasingly strong headache of what to do with those who don't fear them.

Student Nurses Crown May Queen

Students' Society And Junior Auxiliary Sponsor Crowning, Mothers-Daughters Tea

Amidst a beautiful setting arranged in the recreation room of the nurses' residence, on the New Castle Hospital grounds, over 200 attended the May day festivities held in the form of a May day crowning and a mother-daughters tea, Sunday afternoon.

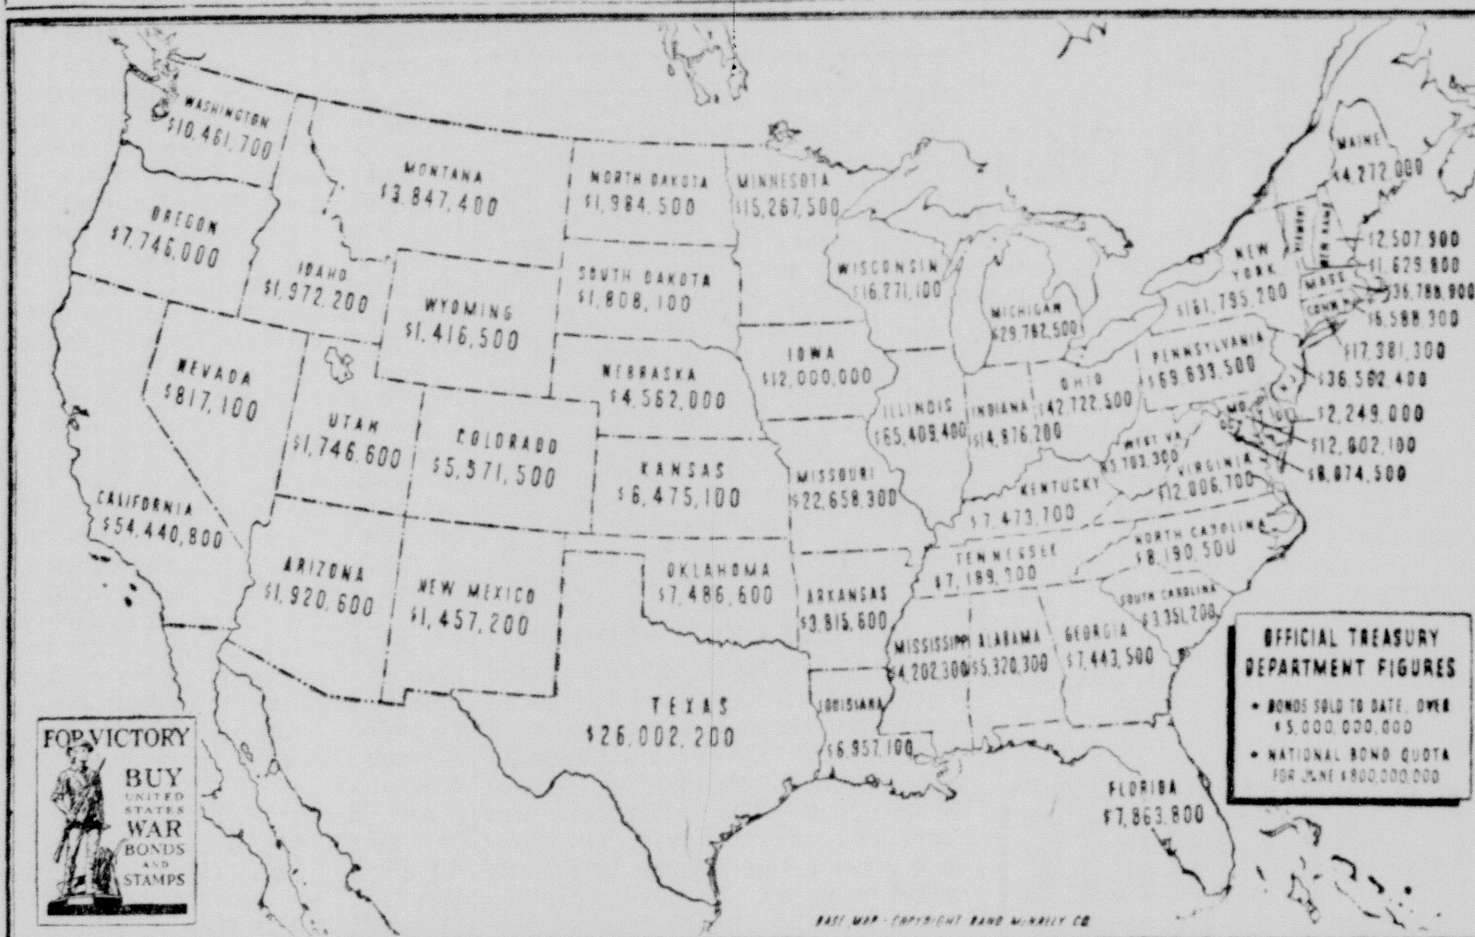

At 2 o'clock, the ceremonies started with the crowning, and May queen, Mary Orlando, attired in white satin and a fingertip veil of lace with a crown of white daisies, was presented by the president of the Students' Society of the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing. The sequence of the program was introduced by the guard of honor, Jean Mersheimer. Assisting in the crowning of the queen were the attendants, attired in gowns of pastel shades, Vivian Horstine, Eleanor Branning, Sabina Dee Shoup, Julia McCarthy, Olga Marotti and Margaret Stinard, flower girls, Jean Ann DeMark, Kay Ann McElitt and crown bearer, Ann Meehan.

Rev. Fr. Vincent O'Donnell, chaplain of the New Castle Hospital, crowned the May Queen, and also was in charge of the benediction services. Rev. Fr. Francis C. Streiff, pastor of St. Joseph's church, delivered an appropriate address during the services. Father Streiff depicted Mary, Mother of God as a second Eve. Mary having come upon earth to be Mother of God and to be Mother of all mankind. He urged all present to keep Mary as their guardian through life. Father congratulated the student nurses for their activities in sociality, devotion and for their ability to serve as guides, and their ability to care for the sick, and through this, set an example to the young girls and older women in this community.

The entire student body sang the following songs, "Mother Beloved," "For Christ the King," and "America We're Just Begun," by Fr. Daniel Lord, S. J., "Ave Maria," Carlo Rossini, of Pittsburgh, and "Hail Virgin, Dearest Mary," by S. M. Yenn. Mrs. Frances Colaco, accompanied the students on the piano, and played the processional.

A mothers-daughters tea followed after the ceremonies, sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary of the New Castle Hospital. This group worked hard and diligently in making the affair a colorful and successful event. Mrs. John Barrett was chairman, and pouring at the lovely tea table were: Mrs. Paul Forney and Mrs. John Foster. Aides were Mrs. Alsa Shewman, Mrs. Richard Rantz, Mrs. J. Lumen Popp and Mrs. Joseph Windl. Mrs. Shewman had charge of the table, and the tea was held in informal style. During the tea, the guests were entertained with music and songs by Gladys Mitchell.

Sugarless Canning Will Be Discussed

State College Expert Will Give Demonstration At Epworth Church, June 3

New methods of canning designed especially for the sugarless days will be brought to New Castle women by Miss Eleanor Winters, nutrition expert from State College at 2 p. m. on June 3, Wednesday, at the Epworth M. E. church on the corner of East Washington street and Butler avenue.

Miss Winters will demonstrate new methods of preserving food by special new salting and drying processes that preserve the fresh taste. New canning methods that use very little sugar will be demonstrated.

It is almost a patriotic duty of New Castle women to attend this demonstration on Wednesday for the government has launched a program of better foods and diets and the demonstration will be an aid. Also housewives will learn how to save sugar a necessity in these days when few ships can be spared to bring sugar to America.

3 WAYS TO GET A $100 LOAN

1. ON YOUR SIGNATURE 2. ON YOUR CAR
3. ON YOUR FURNITURE

How to get cash quickly and simply—Monthly payments to fit your own pocketbook

Would a cash loan help you this month? If you have a job, you can borrow without fuss or bother—at reasonable cost and repay your loan in monthly installments.

Do just this

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay.

Loans are made in three different ways: 1. On your personal note. No security is required. Note loans are made under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples. 2. On your car. This plan may suit you best. 3. On your furniture. Many people prefer this plan. When making car and furniture loans, we consider character and income far more important than the value of your security. We will make your loan the way which best suits your own situation.

You may choose the most convenient payment plan from the table below. Suppose you borrow $100. Twelve installments of $9.75 each will repay the loan in full. You may prefer to repay sooner. Six monthly installments of $18.15 each will also repay a $100 loan. The cost of your loan, in this case, is just $8.90.

You need no endorser or guarantor to borrow at Household. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow workers to sign the loan papers with you. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit.

Get your loan for less

Payments in the table include charges of 2 1/2% per month on a loan balance of $100 or less and 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. We publish our costs and payments to help you compare rates before you borrow.

If you can make good use of a loan, see us or telephone today.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. John Barrymore Funeral Tuesday

Body Of Famous 60-Year-Old
Actor Lies In State At A
Los Angeles Mortuary

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, June 1—The body of John Barrymore lay in state at a Los Angeles mortuary today while simple funeral services were being planned for tomorrow for the 60-year-old actor who more than three decades had been a reigning favorite of the stage and screen.

Last rites will be conducted in the tiny chapel of Cavalry cemetery with only 75 of the actor's closest friends in attendance. Following the requiem mass, the actor's body will be laid to rest in the Barrymore crypt beside his sister-in-law, the late Mrs. Lionel Barrymore.

Father John O'Donnell, who was at the actor's death bed when he returned to the Catholic faith, was to officiate at the services.

A sorrowing Lionel Barrymore, eldest of the "royal family of Broadway," and John's actress-daughter, Diana, who both maintained an almost constant vigil at the veteran star's bedside until the end came late Friday night, were to attend the funeral.

The other member of the "royal family," Ethel Barrymore, who was appearing in a play in Boston, will not attend the services because she was unable to obtain a plane reservation.

Lionel Barrymore announced today that the following will be active pallbearers: Gene Fowler, author and lifelong friend of John; John Decker, W. C. Fields, Edgar J. Mannix, C. J. Briden and Stanley Campbell.

John Barrymore's four former wives also were invited but it was expected that Elaine Barrie, his last wife, would be the only one to attend, the others being out of the city.

Special Program At New Bedford

Memorial Services Are Conducted In Village On Sunday Afternoon

Impressive Memorial Day services were held Sunday afternoon in Hopewell church, with Wylie D. Cooper, chairman, in charge of the program. Devotions were led by Rev. A. D. Anderson of the U. P. church. Dr. Robert Wells Veach delivered the address. Special music was furnished by the church choir, and Miss Elizabeth Ropp, soloist.

Additional exercises were conducted at the soldier's monument. The Gettysburg Address was read by Earl McClusky, after which Mrs. Hazel Carlisle read the names of the twenty-four soldiers of the community who did not return from the wars in which they fought. A wreath was then placed in their memory.

The flag was dedicated by Russell Williams and raised to full mast by William Hanna.

The service closed with the benediction by Rev. K. S. Sheppard of the Mahoning U. P. church, and the playing of taps by Paul Shields.

USO Concert Here Tonight

New Castle Artist, Dorothy
Fisher, In Leading Role
For USO Benefit

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the George Washington Junior High School there will be a concert sponsored by the New Castle teachers for the benefit of the Lawrence County USO drive.

The artists to perform are New Castle's own talented pianist, Dorothy Fisher, and a noted lyric and dramatic soprano, L. Maria Giachino. Both women are donating their talents so that the USO will receive every cent taken in.

Music lovers have an unusual chance to kill two birds with one stone tonight: they can hear some exceptionally good music, professionally performed, and they can aid the organization that is going all out for our boys in the armed services, the USO.

Tickets are on sale at any New Castle school, Fleming's, Donati's or the Work-Basket. Prices are $75 and $1.00 for adults, and $50 for school children.

If you have not gotten your ticket yet, you can get them at the door.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEKALL

We hope that each and every one had fun over the double Holiday... now every one should be ready to dig in and work doubly hard for the success of this country. This morning was a little slow in New Castle but that was alright... tonight will speed things up as the stores are open for the convenience of the office and defense worker... Each Monday night the New Castle merchants will keep their stores open... they will be closed on Monday mornings... keep that in mind. The rest of the week store hours will be the same as they always are during summer months.

Here is a little poem about a local soldier... Private Robert Myrtle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Boles, Winslow avenue... it was written by a Pennsylvania soldier... they are both stationed in California at an Army Flying School.

When I left my home for the Army I was lonely for friends left behind. All the boys I came with were strangers. And new friends I was forced to find.

Now some boys you meet you can talk with And that's just as far as it goes. While in others you find a companionship starts. He's a friend it's a pleasure to know.

Now I've come along ways and I've met many pals And I landed way out on the coast. I've met a friend who will prove to the end Of the things I am going to boast.

He's a short little pal, always wearing a smile And it makes you feel good just to know There's a fellow who's with you in all that you do. Who'll stick with you wherever you go.

He's from my home state, not far from my home But we had to come out here to meet. Just a regular fellow this Myrtle I met. And in him I find a friendship complete.

Now all I can say is I hope we will stay Best of friends for this term and duration. When back home we all go, will be good just to know That we shared work and play for our Nation.

—PVT. WILLIAM G. SHAULE.

Don't forget ladies, Wednesday at two o'clock... a Victory Food Canning Demonstration... see how to preserve foods without the aid of too much sugar. The Pennsylvania State College will furnish the instructor... The local Victory Garden Committee sponsors the event and the Nutrition Classes of the American Red Cross under the direction of Mrs. William Cosel will attend and take part in the event.

USO Committee Entertains Service Men In New Castle

Although U. S. O. does not have a training center in New Castle, soldiers and sailors home on furlough or passing through town are assured of U. S. O. service right here, according to P. J. Flaherty, President of the Lawrence County U. S. O. committee.

"The local committee," Mr. Flaherty stated, "may retain a small portion of the funds raised to take care of the men in the armed services while they are in New Castle." This includes not only men home on furlough, but groups such as the sailors now training at the N. Y. A. Center.

"The facilities of the Y. M. C. A. have been offered to these men while they are in New Castle, and the committee has assurance that no soldier boy stranded in New Castle will want for a place to sleep, something to eat, or a lift on his way if he needs it."

An example of the local committee's work occurred several months ago when a body of Naval technicians from Grove City College were invited to New Castle to take part in the Army Day Parade. On short notice the committee made complete arrangements to hold a dance for the boys which they attended to a man, and enjoyed immensely.

Ensign Brown, Commander of the Naval Detail at the N. Y. A. Centers, immediately after his arrival in New Castle, contacted the local U. S. O. Committee about the possibilities

To Rouse Flow of Liver Bile

Do This Every Morning For 30 Days

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts tonight. Start right in tomorrow morning and take as much as will be on a dime in a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast or in your morning cup of tea or coffee and keep this up for 30 days. Kruschen taken this way helps relieve such symptoms as sick headaches, bowel sluggishness and so-called bilious indigestion when due to insufficient flow of bile from the gall-bladder. You can get Kruschen, a famous English formula made in the U.S.A. at Eckerd's of New Castle or any drug store. You must be satisfied or money back.

CONSTIPATION SUFFERERS Note: For an occasional cathartic or purgative, to relieve common constipation, we believe there is nothing better than quick-acting Kruschen in larger doses—try it according to directions on the bottle.

Bell Employees Buying Bonds

Local Office Wins Minute Man Award For Employee Participation

A large Minute Man flag, an official emblem of the United States Treasury Department, was unfurled Monday, June 1, at the office of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, located in New Castle at 31 South Mercer street, to symbolize that more than 94 per cent of Bell employees are buying war bonds through the payroll deduction plan. Unfurling of the flag was coincident with a similar flag display and the presentation of a United States Treasury Department certificate of award to the Bell Company at the company's headquarters in Pittsburgh. The certificate was presented by Steacy E. Webster, associate state administrator. Paul J. Baldwin, district manager for the Bell Company, said the latest report shows that 94 per cent of all Bell of Pennsylvania employees are participating. They are backing with their war bond dollars the soldiers and sailors on every front and every sea where the American flag flies.

New Compensation Ruling For Pickets

Still May Qualify For State Aid Even If Union Has Given Help

Benefits supplied pickets by their local union and considered as a loan based upon their need do not disqualify a claimant for unemployment compensation, according to a recent ruling of the Unemployment Commission board of review. In its decision, the board pointed out that "the claimant received no form of remuneration for his activity as a picket, but was given benefits based purely on his need." The claimant, in whose case the opinion was handed down had worked as a truck driver and became unemployed during a dispute between the employer and union local of which he was a member. The claimant had taken an active part in the dispute serving in the capacity of a picket. He filed a claim for unemployment compensation on the ground that he was not totally unemployed within the meaning of the unemployment compensation plan.

Bragging is dangerous. The more we are pepped up by a little success, the more our morale suffers when the enemy keeps slugging.

When subs can operate in bright mid-day, 300 yards off-shore, somebody is still hoping for the best instead of preparing the worst.

BESSEMER

BRIDAL SHOWER

Mrs. Harris McClelland and Mrs. Verlyn Stearns entertained teachers of Hillsville school at a party at the former's home in honor of Mrs. James Mastropietro, nee Helen Valentine. Bridge was in progress during part of the evening with prizes going to Mrs. Robert Wallace of Akron, O. Mrs. Lawrence Kimmikinen and Miss Lucille Hutchinson. Lunch was served at the dining room table attractively decorated with colors of pink, yellow and white and lighted with tall pink tapers. A Maypole formed the centerpiece with ribbons leading to each place where a miniature parasol was placed as a favor. Later the honoree was given streamers which when followed led to a huge pink and yellow parasol under which she found many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mrs. Mastropietro whose husband is now stationed at Camp Wallace, Texas, was married March 7 at St. Anthony church of Bessemer with Rev. Fr. Joseph Young officiating.

Special guests of the evening included Mrs. Aubrey Reno, Mrs. Arthur Walker, Mrs. Romeo Piskens, Mrs. Samuel Stille, Mrs. Lawrence Kimmikinen and Mrs. Robert Wallace. All with the exception of Mrs. Wallace are former teachers of the Hillsville school.

FIRST AID CLUB

The First Aid club will hold its regular meeting in the portable school building Monday evening, June 1, at 8.
